Dr. Lorimer is an orater, and that, too, of the most brilliant and fascinating type. His eloquence has a forceful, throbbing flow that carries one along irresistibly with the current of his thought, and enchains the attention throughout. He abounds in illustrations, and it was noticeable that every one seemed to have come fresh from the mint, and never been in circulation before. He is an admirable actor; every pose and gesture is graceful and effective in the highest degree; and the wonderful influence of his dramatic power can only be understood by being felt. His thought is strikingly original. There is an absolute freedom from all onventionalities in his style. In a word, ne is one of the finest speaker that a

Mrs. Stephen Robbins is the wife of a prominent farmer living on a large and well-kept plantation just at the edge of Monroe, La. They have resided in this community but two years, having moved here from Illinois. The change was made for the benefit of Mrs. Robbins' health, her physicians having advised her that it was the only hope of her ever regaining her lost health.

"Three years ago this last winter," said Mrs. Robbins, "I was very sick with that most trencherous disease, the grippe. I had a very severe time with it, but was able to get out after being confined to my home several weeks. I think I went out too soon, for I immediately contracted a cold and had a relapse, which is a common occurrence with that disease. For several more weeks I was confined to the house; and after this I did not fully recover until recently. I was able to get out again, but I was quite a different woman.

My lungs were so affected that I thought I was going into consumption. During my illness I had lest thirty pounds in weight. I tried to regain my strength and former good health by trying different medicines and physicians, but nothing seemed to help me. My appetite was gone, and when I ate the food it would not stay on my stomach.

"The only thing my physician said for me to do was to take a change of climate, and on his advice I came here. At first I seemed benefited, but to my sorrow it proved to be only temporary, and in a few months I was in my former condition. The color had left my cheeks, I had no energy, and life was a misery. ## WORDS OF FAREWELL. Read by Daniel Moses at Wednesday Evening's Testimonial.

The appended lines were read by Daniel Moses, alderman of the Fitteenth ward, as a conclusion to his address given last Wednesday evening at the testimonial concert tendered Evan Miles, chorister of the Welsh Calvanistic Methodist church. There were many present who recalled how in days long past at the then frequent Welsh literary contests Mr. Moses was a usual victor in Weish or English compositions and we herewith print the verses given by him:

We gree thee, dear friend, at this hour of parting. From heartfelt, true friendship in verse and in song; As friends of long years, the thought Our feelings oc'rflow, and our sorrow grows strong;

Dear brother and teacher! they work true and feithful With those that the Saviour said "Come unto me;"
Will bring show'rs of blessings to follow

And children will rise and say, blessed Thou'rt going away to far British Colum-

In hopes thy old friends and relations With feeling of sadness we say, good-bye, And trust that our loss well be gain

In prayer we'll unite to the 'Father of Mercy," To guard and protect thee by day and by night, Oe'r mountains and valleys may thee and At last end thy journey all cheerful and -Daniel Moses.

SOCIAL EVENTS. Mrs. Henry Harner, of 910 Oxford street, entertained last evening. The guests were well pleased with the efforts of their hostess, and the dancing games, et cetera, provided for their entertainment were heartily enjoyed refreshments were served, About fifteen couple were present. A very pleasant afternoon event occurred at the cosy home of Mrs. M. Y. Edwards, of Washburn street, yesterday. Mrs. Edwards served tea to a party of ladies, some of whom are visiting West Scranton friends. Those present were: Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Williams, of Lansford; Mrs. Benjamin, of Nesquehoning: Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Meurig Evans.

WOMEN AT WAR. The case of Mrs. Ann McHale against Mrs. Ann McHone, both residents of Fellows street, proved rather difficult for Alderman Moses to decide without dissatisfying all parties. Mrs. McHale swore out a warrant before the alderman yesterday afternoon, charging Mrs. McHone with having a bitter tongue and the use of tainted language to her (Mrs. McHale's) family. The hearing was given last evening. Both the alderman all that each knew of the other. When it came to a decision, Mrs. McHone rebelled and laughed to scorn the idea of fines. "Give me ball," said she, "I will push this case Bail was fixed at $200 and then this did not please her. "Make it higher. I can get any amount and you better be sure of me, for I'm going to make it hot for her."

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Miss Sadie Bush, of South Bromley avenue, was given a surprise by her fellow-members of the Baptist Young People's union of the Scranton Street church, who gathered at the residence of Miss Bush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bush, Thursday evening, and made merry. The evening was spent in an enjoyable manner. Mrs. Thomas Jones, Miss Via Jones and David Evans rendered vocal selections. Later. refreshments were served.
